HOW IT WORKS:

1. SETTLING ZONE

Settleable solids sink to the bottom of the tank and scum rises to the top. An optional screen prevents trash from entering the treatment tank.

2. AERATION

An above-ground blower introduces oxygen into the tank, facilitating a robust circulation of oxygenated wastewater through the media.

3. SUBMERGED MEDIA

Abundant self-regulating microbes attached to the media decompose organic matter, nutrients, and pathogenic organisms in the wastewater.

4. DISCHARGE

Treated water exits the system after passing a built-in baffle.
